

Striving...

A photograph of a tree with green leaves against a bright, hazy sky. The tree's branches and leaves are silhouetted against the light background. The sky is a pale, hazy blue with some wispy clouds. The overall mood is serene and hopeful.

...for new Horizons

"They can because they think they can"

— Virgil

*Struggling desperately towards the destination of our dreams,
we sometimes wonder...
Why?*

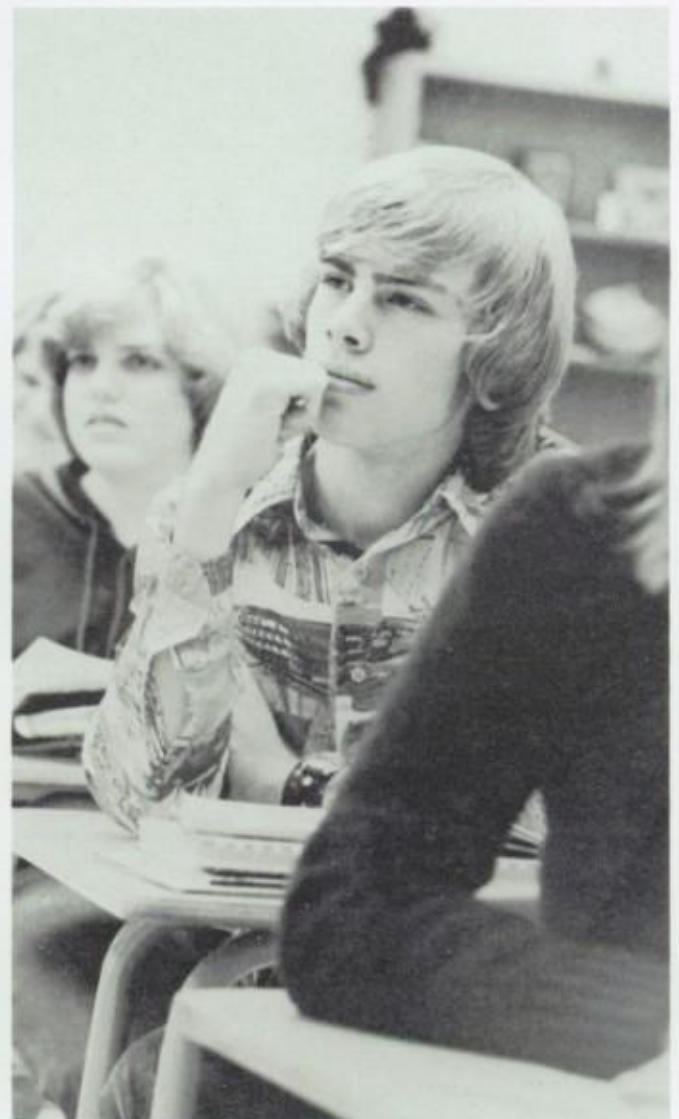

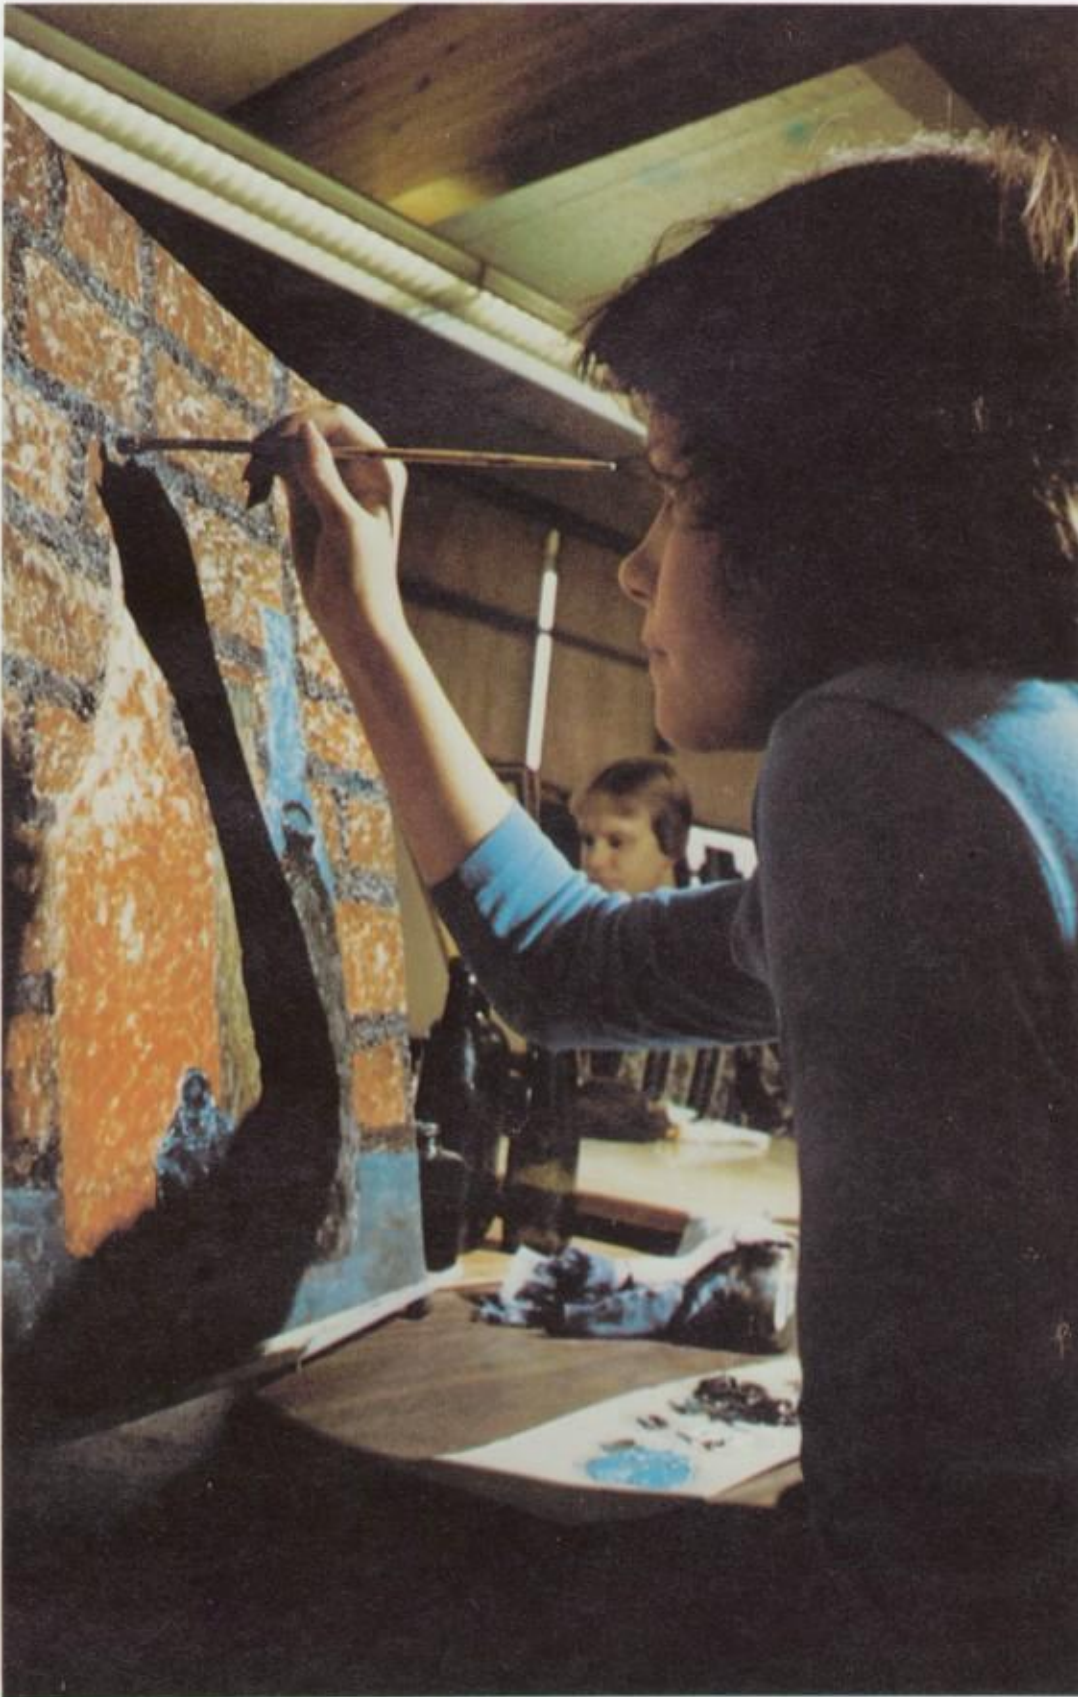

*The answer
lies in our self-respect.*

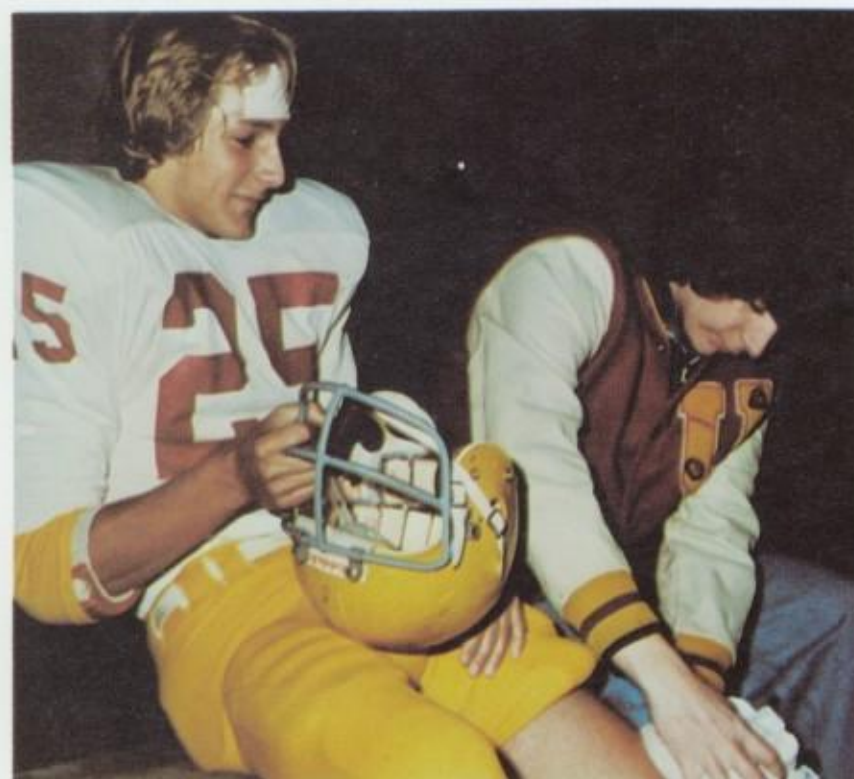

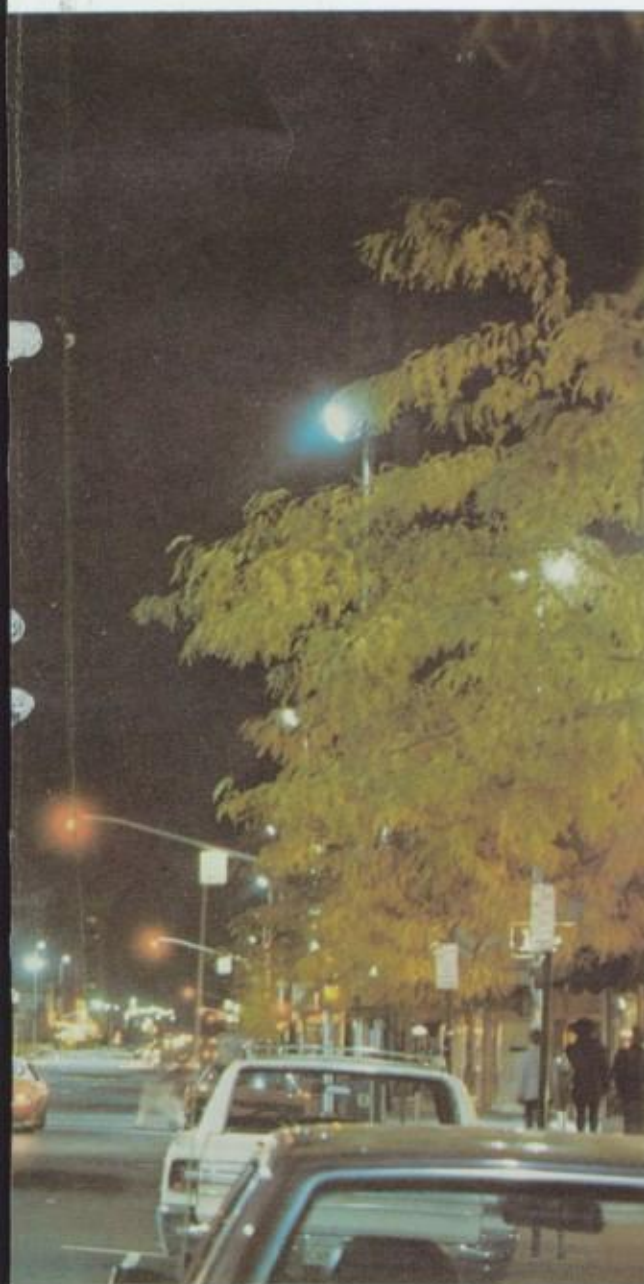

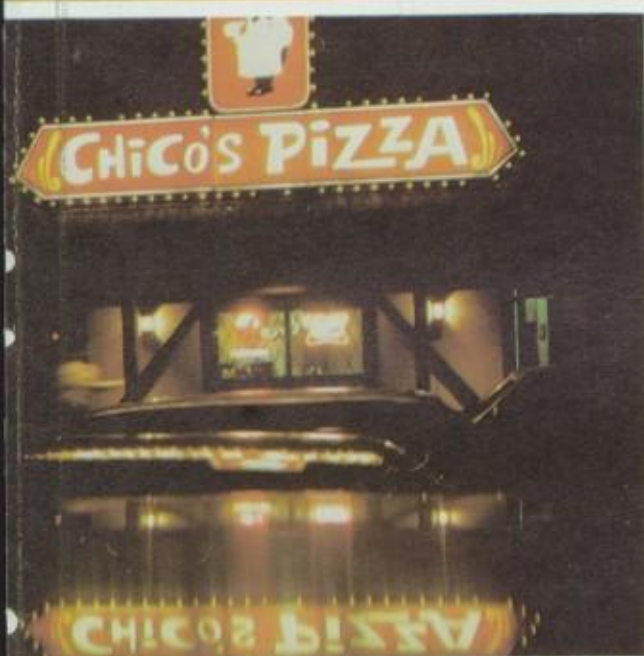

*We reflect back...
Creating images
for others to see.
Giving of ourselves,
each — differently.
And by giving,
we ascend to higher pinnacles.*

*We Grow
by striving.
In our striving,
we expand
our horizons.
Never forgetting the small things that encouraged us
to grow.
A blurr
of days and nights race by like speeding lights —
and our destinations are reached.*

*Alone,
yet together!*

*Emotions
flash through our being.
Faces mirror other's emotions —
a world of imagination and illusion.*

*We listen,
we learn,
we grow.
We extend ourselves
to reach new horizons!*

Lead Class Activities

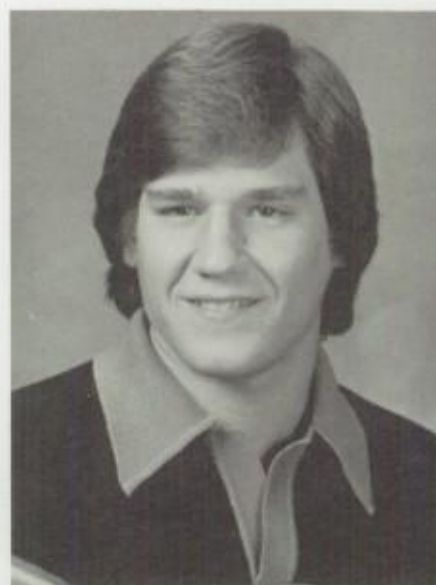

Above: Senior Class officers spend much planning time with class advisor, Mr. Gerry Manfred. In a pre-meeting session, the officers arrange the agenda to explain ordering procedures for class rings and caps and gowns.

Seniors Start Year With Breakfast

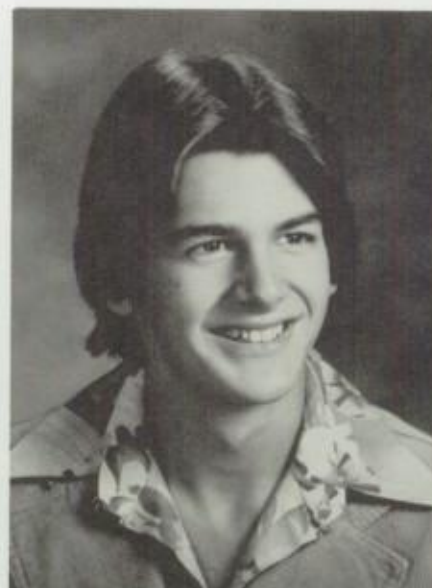

Senior Spirit "got up early" Friday before Homecoming Week. Over 100 seniors braved a 6:30 a.m. breakfast to show class unity in preparation for the Homecoming event.

A Fall Circus amazed/amused students on Friday of Homecoming Week as the foyer came alive with stuffed animals and seniors "clowning around" for real.

A lot of water, a lot of work, and a few cars got Senior funds off to an early start. A July car wash was the first project for the class of '78.

In twelve years Seniors become "critically" aware of teacher personalities! They respect their instructors, but who can resist a tongue-in-cheek memory of the following? — "I'm sorry, I can't hear you Mr. Manfred." "We love the experiment Mr. Lusk — and I'm sorry I was yawning." "It's got to be within a pinhead of the location Mr. Alstrom! Oh...it's the wrong continent." The Senior Class Assembles for A Final Portrait to Record their...

Dignity & Style!(!?)

Senior's '78' Sign

A dense, handwritten collage of names and signatures, many of which are crossed out with large, bold, black strokes. The names are written in various styles and orientations, creating a chaotic and layered visual effect. Some names are clearly legible, while others are partially obscured or written in a cursive script that is difficult to decipher. The overall impression is one of a crowded, personal space, possibly a scrapbook or a collection of signatures from a group of people.

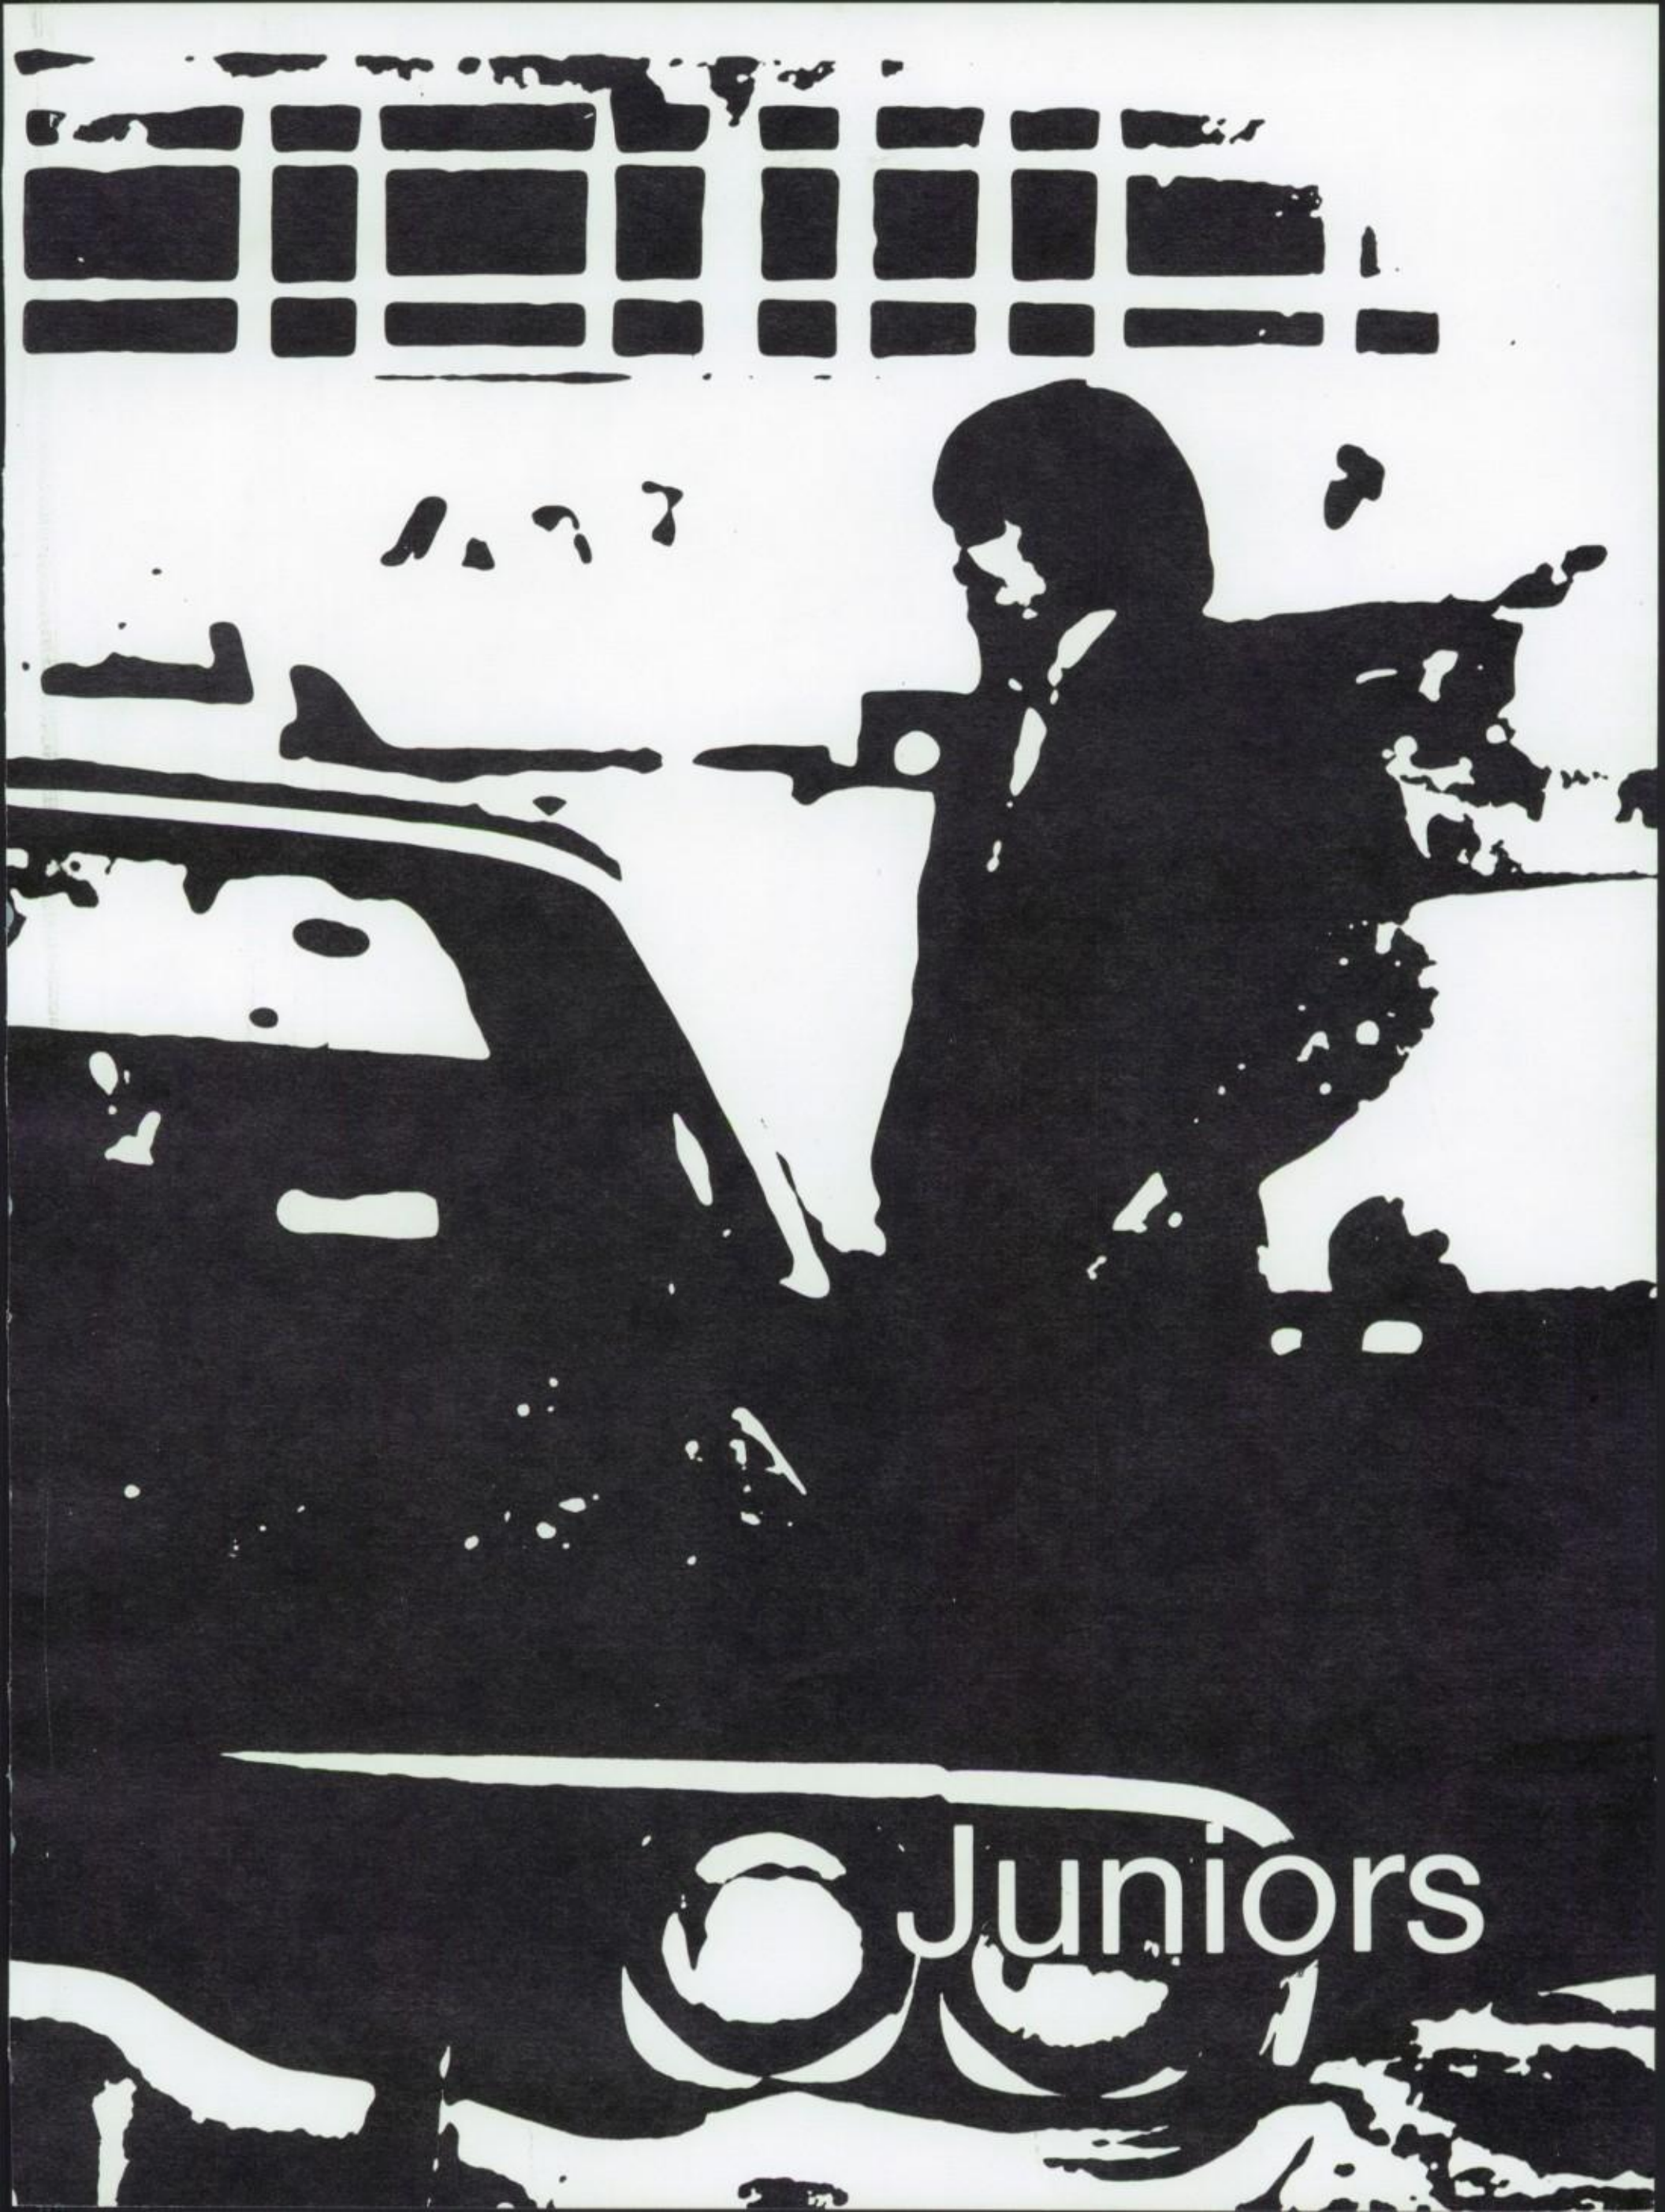

Off...

Handwritten signatures and names, including: RYAN, CHARLES HEATON, TAMMY MORIAN, KIDMORE, DENNER, NOW-MAN, ROSE, Paula Davis, Chris, John, Diane, Lane (Joe), Achy, Wade, Spike, CUNNINGHAM, BOBBLE, BOBBETT, BARRETTA, JEFFREYS, and many others. Some names are circled or underlined.

ASB Leads Activities

ASB officers, chosen each year by student body election, direct many school functions, including the fall leadership conference and Homecoming.

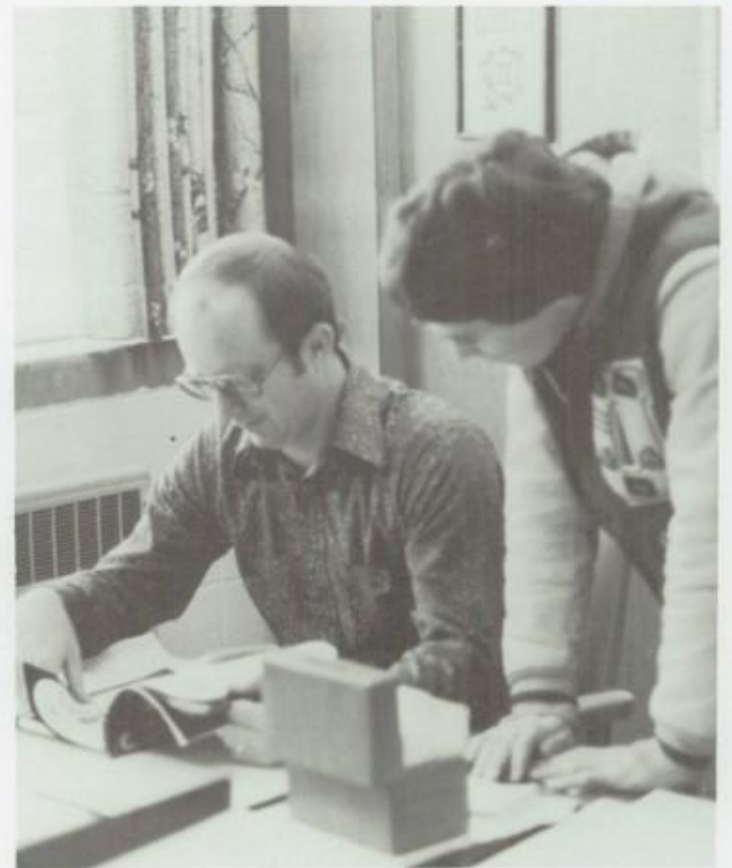

The November 9 student leadership conference, held at EWU, provided eight hours of intensive training in leadership skills, self-confidence, and school improvement. Seventy five students, selected by application, attended these meetings instructed by two EWU professors.

Homecoming began the year for the ASB Officers. They met in late August to plan Homecoming Week activities.

ASB ends the year by planning the coming year's budget, including those of the clubs. Those clubs who wish to plan an activity must get student council approval, (headed by the ASB Officers), and administration approval.

Right: Mr. Clayton, ASB advisor, and Pres. Craig Debenham often meet to discuss matters concerning ASB.

Thank you Mr. O'Reilly

Mr. Ward O'Reilly, 15 years adviser to the U-High yearbook, officially "retired" from his adviser role at the beginning of the '77 school term. He guided the Kronos from its first issue when the building opened in 1962. The '78 Kronos Staff would like to thank Mr. O'Reilly for his years of devotion to the University Yearbook.

Mr. O'Reilly began teaching in 1959 at Central Valley High School. Three years later, he transferred to U-High when it first opened. His years of advising required many extra hours—countless days and nights—in making each yearbook the best possible.

Principal Jim Stickney reminisced that many times Mr. O'Reilly used his own time to gather individual pictures from the photography studios and more than once had to drive his own car to Pasco to get the books back to the students on time.

No one works with yearbooks without anxious, humorous moments! Mr. Stickney remembered such incidents as the time he misspelled a principal's name, (not Mr. Stickney's!) and of the embarrassing times he forgot to put film in the camera for a group shot!

Looking back on the volumes of yearbooks, Mr. O'Reilly concluded Annual was always a fun class. Deadlines were the biggest headache, he said, but he always had a good group of kids that worked hard and got the job done.

—Thanks Mr. O'Reilly for a job well done!

Mr. O'Reilly...1959

Mr. Ward O'Reilly maintains a casual atmosphere in his Civics classes, and enjoys the lack of yearbook hassles this year!

League of Kronos Spurs Social Activity

U-Hi's League of Kronos may be the most active and least understood organization! The ten member combined League is responsible for such school activities as the Father-Daughter Dessert, Sweetheart Dance, Spring Fashion Show, and the Mother's Tea.

The actual League is composed of four senior officers, elected by the student body during a spring campaign. A six member Executive Board assists the League. Two students are elected from each class to serve on the Executive Board.

In addition to social activities, the League sponsors an annual "Girl of the Month" competition. Several girls are nominated by the student body according to a specified quality for that month. A "Girl of the Year" is selected in the same manner based on all-around character and personality.

Spirit Week Sets Enthusiastic Pace

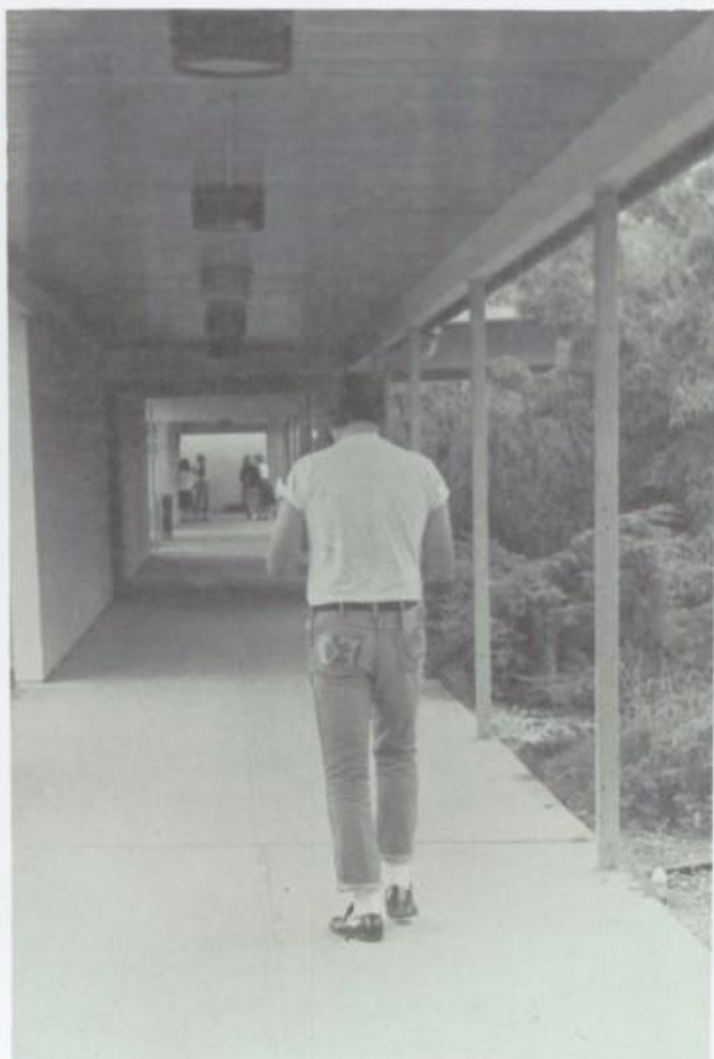

Enthusiasm overwhelmed University as the school became involved with 1977 Homecoming Activities. The week began with "50's Day," followed by "Cow Valley Day," "Teacher Appreciation Day," "Lick 'Em, Sock 'Em, Top 'Em Day," and the Gong Show. The week ended with "Color Day" and a rousing Pep Assembly.

According to Mr. Mel Clayton, over two-thirds of the student body participated in C.V. Day by dressing like cowboys, which highlighted the events of the week.

Homecoming Means Cheers, and Fears

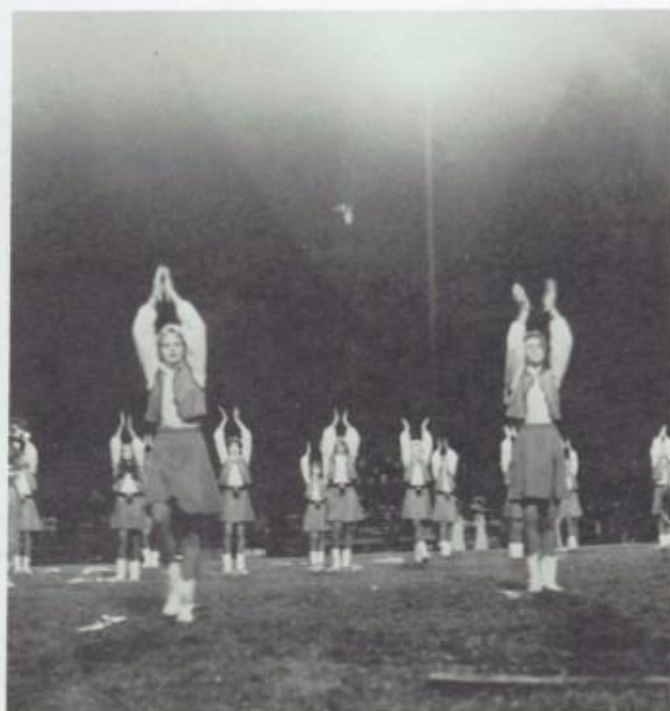

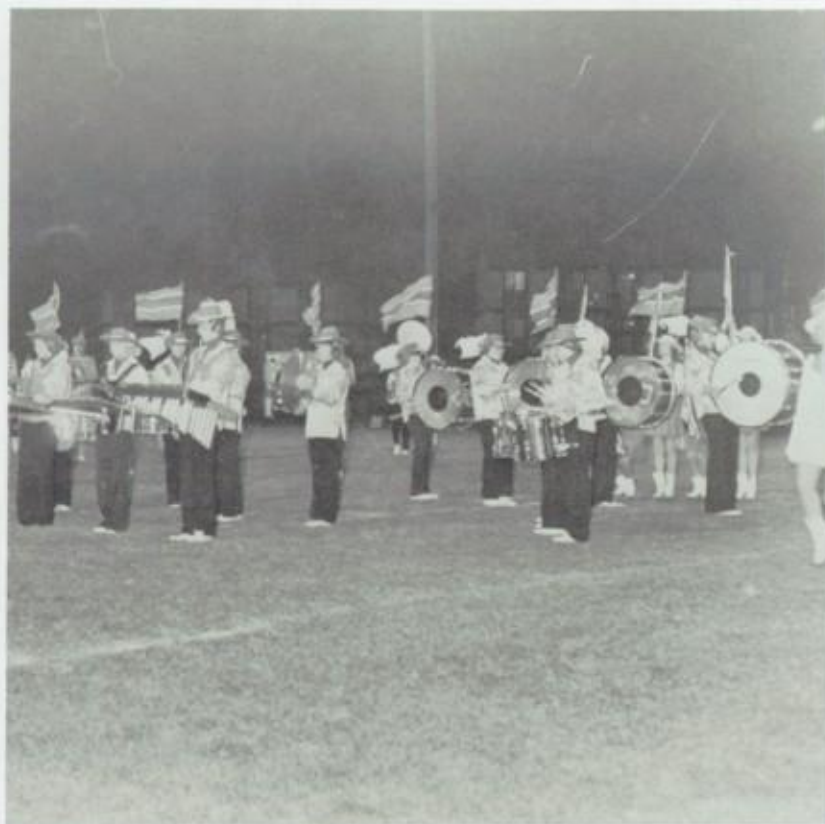

A change in U-High's traditional Homecoming procedures involved more students in '77. Instead of nominating couples, three individual guys and girls were nominated from each class to run for King and Queen. Elections were held to choose one guy and one girl as "Royalty" from each of the classes. The class from which the King and Queen were chosen was determined by the results of class competition held during the week. Mr. Stickney announced that the seniors were the winners of the overall competition during half-time of the Homecoming game. Trophies were given to King Ken VanSickle and Queen Kim Tschetter who represented the Senior Class.

The game itself capped the week. Suspense was high as Central Valley held the lead until the fourth quarter when a last minute touchdown was made by Kevin Fischer. University won the game with a final score of 28-21.

Cheerleaders Guide "Great Year"

Varsity cheerleaders guided a "great year" for Titan sports by not only directing cheers, but, also by planning pep assemblies, sport banquets, and parties for individual teams.

The year began early in the summer with a cheerleading camp at University of Idaho, Moscow. They learned methods of presentation, and improved cheering techniques, "so they can look their best," said Juli Hoiland, Head Cheerleader.

During the year the Varsity Cheerleaders teamed with the B-squad to direct about 18 pep assemblies, assisted the athletics department in three sport banquets to recognize individual athletes, and accomplishments of each one. Juli Hoiland then explained "we gave each team an appreciation party." The Cheerleaders made "goodies" for these events.

The Fighting B's

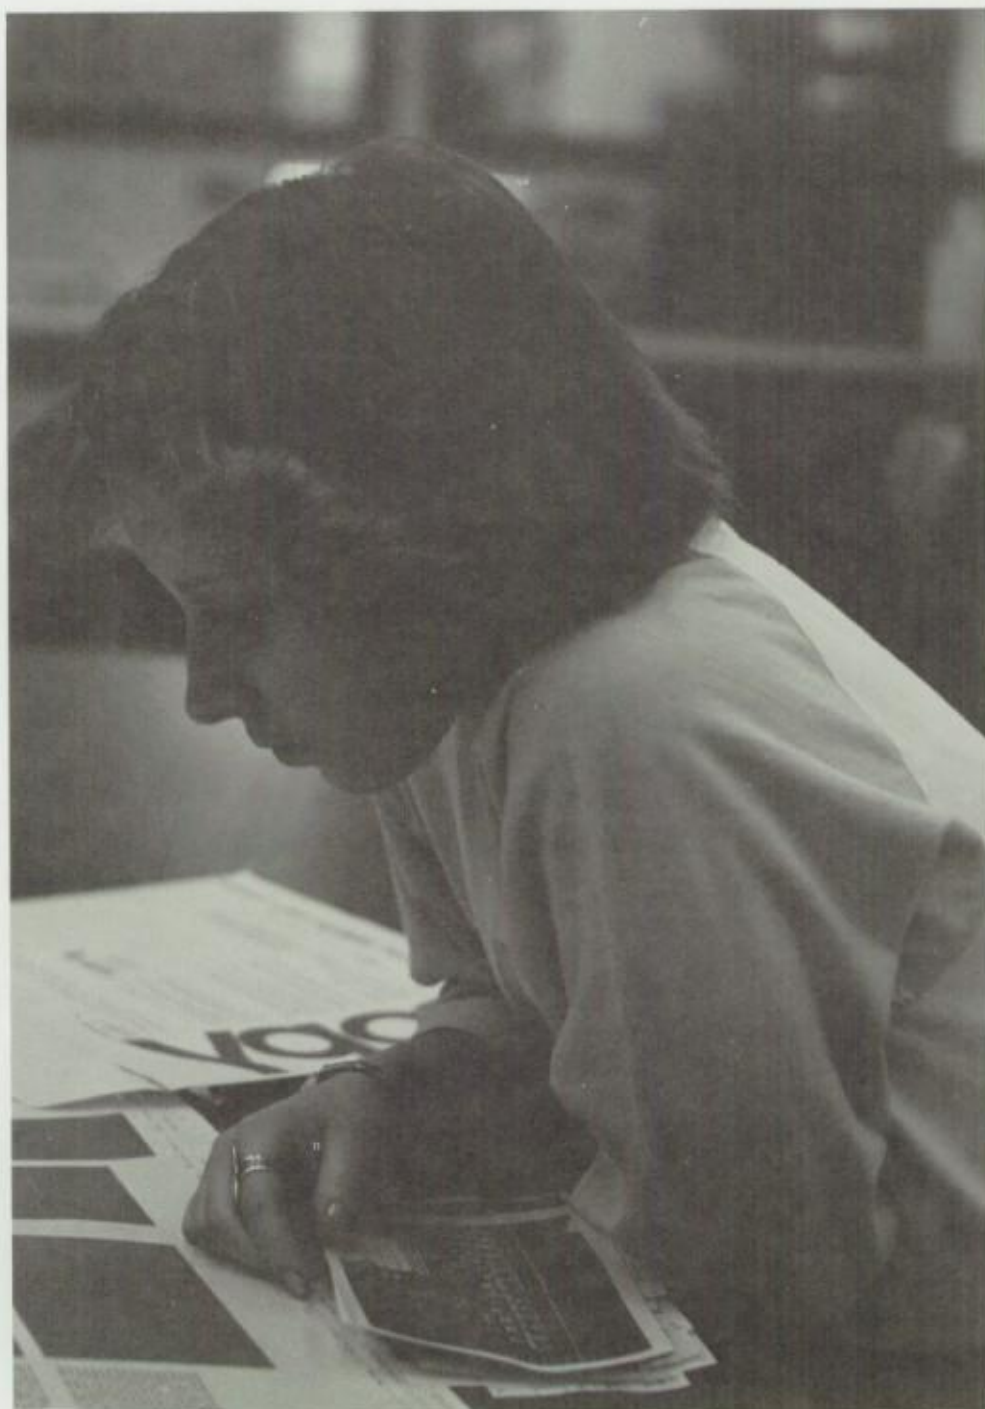

B-Squad cheerleaders maintained a full schedule backing the "Fighting B's" in all sports competition. Head Cheerleader Les Simanton indicated that the tremendous backing from Titans made the year extra active. "We had a great year supporting the B-squad teams. Hopefully next year will be just as exciting as this one. We're all looking forward to it," Les Simanton concluded.

Annual Staff Changes Style

Making change their objective, the '78 Kronos Staff began the year with a trip to the Herff Jones Yearbook Plant in Pasco. There the students learned procedures for camera-ready pasteup, and writing and designing their own pages. These new procedures placed extra work upon the staff during the year, but allowed them greater design freedom.

The book itself reflected the most change, being designed with a contemporary magazine style format and emphasizing story-telling copy, larger pictures, and more color pages.

According to Mr. Clark, the new annual class adviser, the objective of the class is to have each student develop an appreciation of good layout, develop skills in putting a good page together, and develop the best yearbook they're capable of doing.

Fall Difficulties Plague Newspaper Staff

Difficulty in the fall "caused some problems" for the Mercury staff's first edition, but on the average the newspaper came out once a month. Mercury advisor Bill Gilchrist noted that the fall paper "was not close to perfection."

Each issue of the paper is prepared by the editorial team. The staff members gather article information and after outside type setting, the Mercury staff pastes up each page of the paper for printing in the U-High Graphics lab. Mr. Gilchrist's plan is to allow the staff to do as much of the production work as possible so they can learn all aspects of journalistic production.

Next years staff will be looking for more people who are enthusiastic, willing to put in some extra time, and who feel they have some journalistic skills, said Mr. Gilchrist.

Drama Plays New Role

Drama students have participated enthusiastically in three major plays ranging from serious drama to musical comedy, as U-Hi's Drama department has taken on a new role!

Besides school performances, individuals competed throughout the year in area college speech conferences winning several awards in Oral Interpretation, and other individual participation events.

Class activities range from developing expertise in mime and character acting to make-up and technical stage production.

Mrs. Laurie Crowley, new Drama instructor, feels that students participating in dramatic activities develop a more confident self-image, refine their creative imaginations and generally have a better outlook on life after leaving her classes.

Dance Profits Benefit Activities

University Titans danced through two evenings of money making and good times in the '78 social season. Both the fall Sadie Hawkins Dance and the mid-winter Sweetheart Ball were benefit dances well supported by the student body.

The "Sadie" filled the student cafeteria with a variety of strangely-clad individuals fulfilling the L'il Abner tradition of "the girl gets her man." Sponsored by the Mercury staff, the dance earned over $900 for the publication of the school newspaper during the '78 season.

The League of Kronos organized the Feb. 18 Sweetheart Ball and profits from that dance benefited the spring Senior Mother's Tea. Voyage provided music for the evening and six students were randomly selected for royalty.

Seniors Remember "Always and Forever"

Seniors met in the Red Lion Ballroom, Saturday evening, May 13, for the final dance of their high school years — the Senior Ball!

Programs encouraged the Seniors to remember such songs as "Always and Forever," the theme of the dance. Dorian's Studio took pictures of the couples in flowing gowns and tuxes.

The Senior Class Officers and Prom Committee members, Cheryl Moody, Kevin Fischer, Kim Thompson and Brad Pring, worked several months in advance of the date to make arrangements for the dance. They also supervised the selection of three couples of the Senior class to vie for the honored title of King and Queen of the '78 Ball. Eight couples were nominated as royalty during a Senior class meeting. Three of these couples were later elected as the finalists. The King and Queen were voted for the night of the dance and announced at the Senior Ball, which lasted from 9 p.m. 'til 1 a.m.

Prom Highlights Junior Year

Juniors converted the large cafeteria into a danceland fantasy Saturday, March 25, to host the Junior Prom, the biggest event of their class year.

"Starry, Starry Night," the theme of the dance, reflected the mood of the couples as they danced to the music of the Blew Wind Band. Pictures were taken by Burchettes to record the nights' events.

Prom Committee members, with the help of advisor Cheryl Miller, made dance decorations and arranged the selection of the Prom Queen. In a preliminary election, the Junior class nominated six girls to run for the title. Later, the class voted on these six, with the top three vying for the Queen title the night of the dance.

Nine Juniors headed plans for the dance. There were: Cathy Clement, Linda Orahoad, Lisa Wagner, Jen-nice Lyonnais, Diana Bueschke, Robyn Dunlap, Jayne Sours, Donna Roseborough, and Nan Marks.

3 Seniors Gain Recognition In '78 Junior Miss Pagent

Eight U-Hi girls competed in the 19th annual Spokane Valley Junior Miss Pagent and three gained special recognition during the competition.

Lisa Orahod earned the first runner-up position and also won the "Poise and Appearance" Award. Joan Kitterman took the fourth runner-up position and Gayle Marvin won the "Creative and Performing Arts" Award for the evening pagent.

Each year the America's Junior Miss Pagent, Inc., searches for the high school senior girl most representative of her classmates in every American community. The standards set by the Pagent Committee are exceptionally high, with special emphasis on: character, citizenship, high school activities, personal ambitions and lady-like poise and demeanor.

Judging is based on abilities and qualities displayed by the contestants during talent appearances, personal interviews, and informal conversations with the judges.

The contestants agreed the excitement and enthusiasm of the program brings out the "real American spirit" of the teenage girl! Mrs. Lucy Jydstrup was faculty advisor for the participants.

U-Hi Junior Miss Candidates of 1978 are: seated, Michelle Sneider and Lisa Orahod. Standing: Gayle Marvin, Joan Kitterman, Wendy Wagner, Debbie Ingebo, Kasi Harvey, and Bobbie Barnes.

U-Hi Junior Named Miss Spokane Valley

For the first time in five years a U-High candidate, Karin Minor, was chosen Miss Spokane Valley. The judges chose Karin from among twelve contestants; three Junior girls from each of the four Valley high schools. Competing from University were Robin Aschenbrenner and Vicki Nelson. At U-High the girls were selected through nomination and voting by the entire Junior class.

According to Mrs. Annette Lancaster, advisor, judges based the final choice of Miss Spokane Valley on 1) personality and poise; 2) appearance; and 3) speaking ability. In reality, the most important area is that of the girls' ability to work with local adults throughout their senior year. They attend luncheons, grand openings, and other social activities.

In a preparation period before the final judging, all twelve girls attended luncheons and other such social activities to become familiar with merchants and officials of the Valley. After the preparation period there is a coronation ceremony which, this year, was held on January twenty-eighth.

U-Hi Titans proved themselves to be a strong team during their second season in the Greater Spokane Football League. Losing their first game, which was a non-league bout, the varsity squad came back to win five of eight league contests — two of those being to eventual state champion contenders Gonzaga Prep and North Central. Greg Sheldon, Scott Honican, Mike Peterson, Kevin Fisher, and Jon Jordan were selected as all-city stand-outs.

B-squad posted a more impressive record, being undefeated in all games played. They were forced to forfeit a game against N.C. because of the teacher strike. The North Central forfeit placed the sophomore team tied for first place with Lewis and Clark in the finale. Coach Sam Janke said about the team, "If they are really willing to work over this summer and during the year, I feel we will have a very good varsity squad out of them and the returning junior players."

Participants "Raise Hell"

Seniors Win Narrowly In Annual Powderpuff

Due to the tight Homecoming activity schedule, this year's Powderpuff football game took an afternoon position as the traditional "feminine" teams battled to an 8-6 senior victory. Mr. Jim Lusk and Mr. Ken Richardson coached the Seniors through practice each night after school. Mr. Bill Clift and Mr. Dudley Mizoguchi molded the juniors into a competitive foe.

After the Seniors engaged in "exhaustive and intense training" they won a narrow but rousing victory over the stronger than usual junior team. Kathee Roma, the Senior's team captain, probably summed up the feeling of all team members as she said, following the game, "Both sides played real well...and boy did we raise hell!"

Gymnasts Are Tops

The Titan gymnastic team this year was at the top rung of the Greater Spokane League ladder. At the time of publication our girls were holding their own with 7 wins and 3 losses, enough to put them in third place behind tough teams from Shadle Park and Ferris.

Mrs. Oswald, the coach, commented that the most outstanding player was the whole team. "With an individual sport such as gymnastics it would be impossible to pick one from the rest. Each girl is doing her best for the team. A performance can vary from meet to meet." Since the team is made primarily of juniors and sophomores, the future holds many promises.

1978's Cross County Team had a "season of personal triumphs," according to coach Glenn Mac Phee. All runners improved on their previous best times.

Featuring seven seniors, the Cross Country Team was the most experienced in the schools history. "Four underclassmen who added depth to the years team and will help mold the nucleus of next years squad," coach Mac Phee said.

Volleyball, Golf Try Their Best

Volleyball and Golf teams mustered a great deal of enthusiasm according to their coaches, but failed to put in a winning record this season.

Volleyball team began the season with a win over L.C., but didn't out-play any other opponent. Mrs. Oswald feels, "the reason we lost this year was because the team was not use to my conditioning or technique." She also feels that, "next year we will improve."

Golf had a similar season with its participants earning one win and tying two matches, but failing to post an over all win. Mr. Robey stated that, "we were an inexperienced team, but will improve." Mr. Robey is working for an unbeatable team next year.

Titans Have Unpredictable Season

The Titan hoopsters mustered an above average season by winning eight and loosing five during league play. Featured on the team were three returning lettermen, one from Junior Varsity and one B-squad player as the starting five.

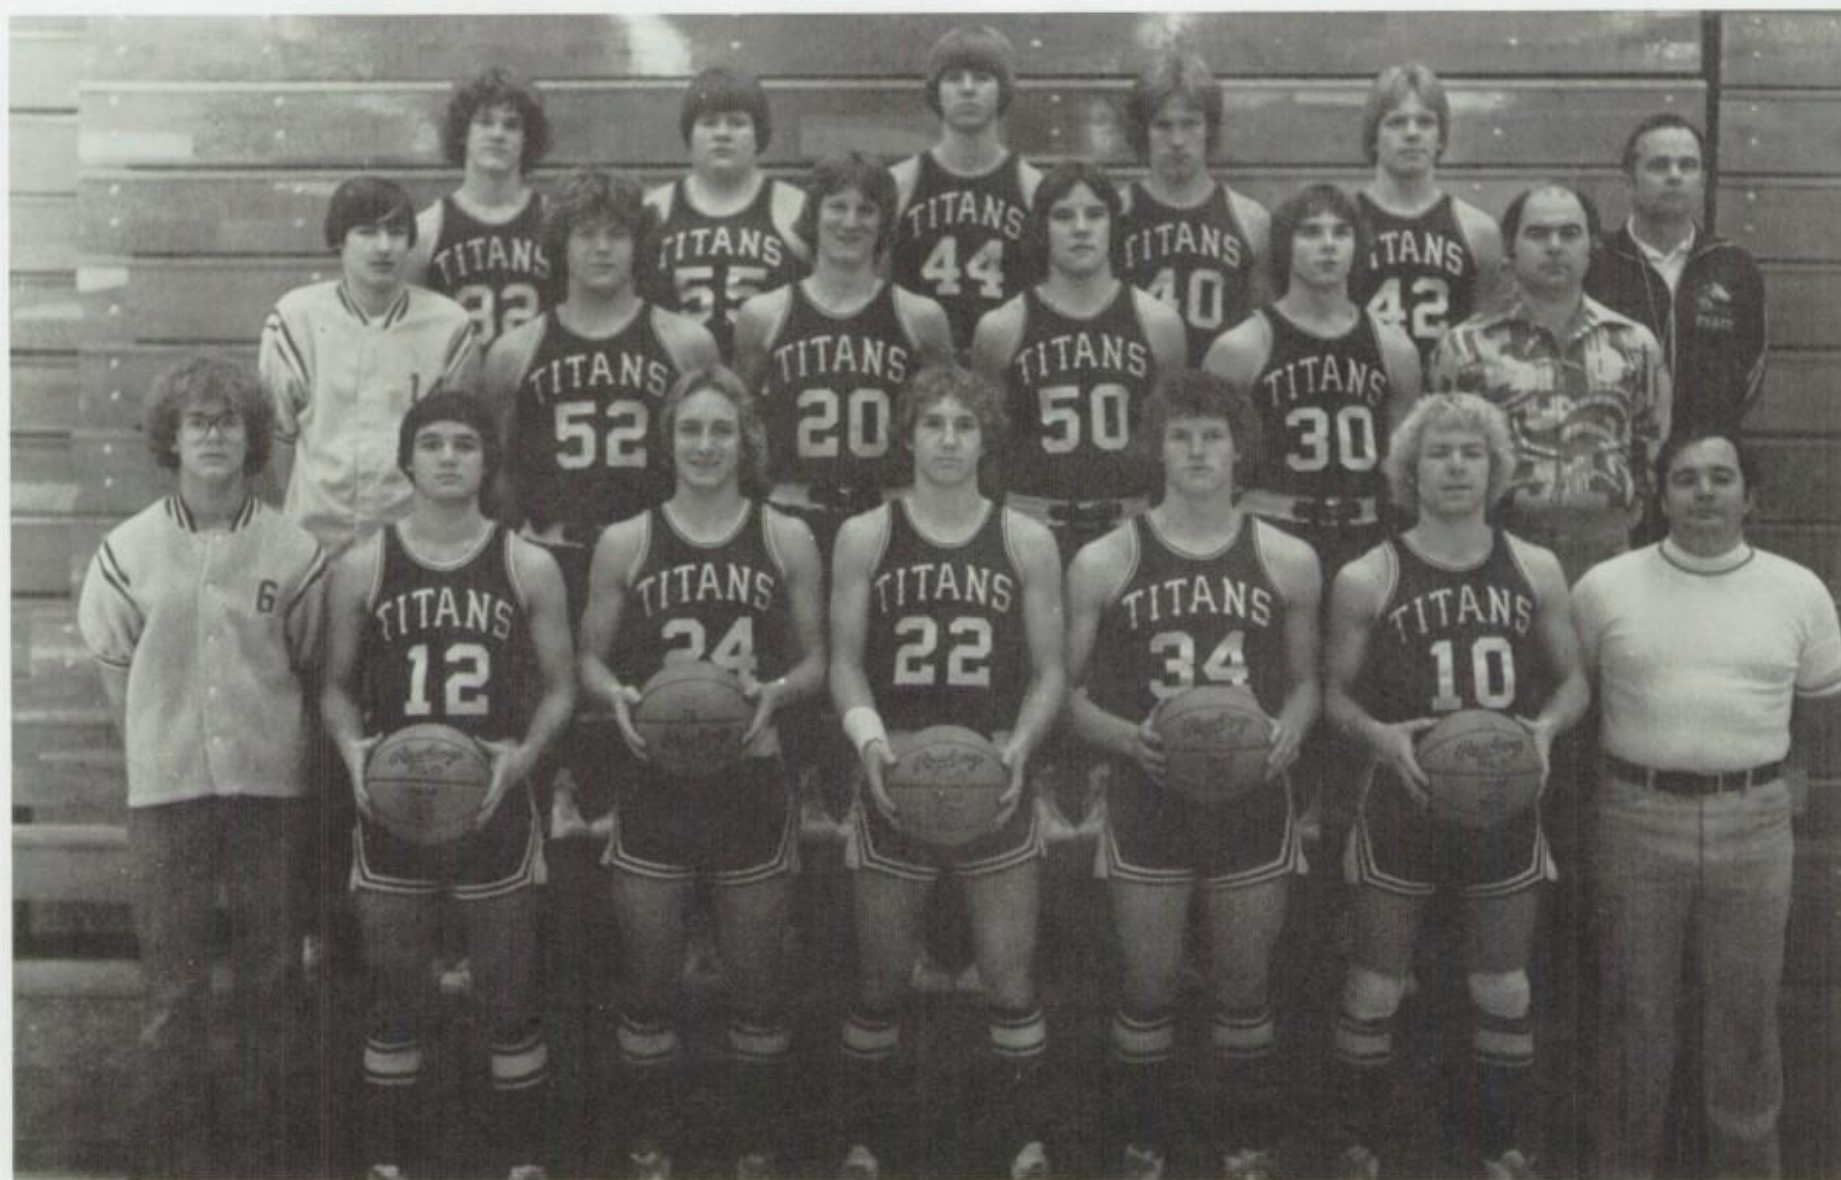

At the three-quarter mark in Greater Spokane League play, coach Marv Ainsworth declined to make any predictions on the season "out of fairness to the group."

Ainsworth emphasized the importance of the Gold Unit which ran opposition offense and defense patterns prior to the games so the starting five could be better prepared for the meet.

While coaching staff members would make no predictions, the 8-5 record with three games to be played seemed to preclude any play-off spots for the Titans.

The Junior Varsity team was said to have improved over the season by Coach Ainsworth. The junior squad won a total of ten games and lost only three in the first round play, but came back to win all of their second round games so far. Outstanding players for the team include Chris Gaiser, Dave Gustafson, Chris Griffith, Jon Nalder, Paul Nienhuis and Jeff Yamada. Keep a look out for big 6'6" Ben Evans next year.

"We had the best season's record in the school's history," gloated the Varsity Wrestling Coaches Rick Sicilia, Jim Lusk and Ken Richardson! Titan grapplers earned second in league with a 12-win, 4-loss record.

Coach Richardson emphasized that the 10 successive wins in this season also set another school record.

Tennis Teams Split Season With Fall & Spring Schedule

The fall U-Hi boy's tennis team posted a 0-10 record, but Coach Bill Gilchrist noted the players are anxious and ready for upcoming spring matches. "With their good attitudes we should be able to really make something happen," commented Mr. Gilchrist.

The gals earned a 1-6 record and looked to the spring matches, "With dedication and spirit," said Coach Sandy Overman.

The tennis teams play 12 matches plus the Inland Empire tournament and the State qualifying match.

Jane Walsh and Jeff Olson earned the #1 spots this fall and Debbie Trescott and Dave Fitzgerald pegged #2.

A Whole New Team!

Baseball Looks Good

An outstanding hitting and defensive team headed Baseball Coach Dan Iyall's list of reasons why he expected "to do well" for the '78 season. Coach Iyall rated the team's batting better than in years past.

The '78 squad lost 11 seniors from last year, but retained one pitcher. Seven lettermen will return to the Titan squad, with 9 juniors and 2 sophomores filling out the ranks.

Catcher Jeff Way has earned some pre-season attention from major league scouts, and Mr. Iyall predicted that his performance this spring could earn him some scholarship attention.

The team looked forward to playing all May league games at the Indian's Fairgrounds Ball Park, a feature new to this season and appreciated by the team, concluded Coach Iyall.

Softball: Two Winning Years?

"I expect to be in the thick of the race to the championships," said girls' softball head coach Mr. Dudley ("the boomer") Mizoguchi. This season the team has seven returning letterwomen: Patti and Paula Tibbals, Sarah Hawkins, Maria Duthie, Lorie McClure, Rita Campbell, Candi Allen, and Sandi Gilmore. The girls only lost two seniors from last year's second-place squad.

Another plus and hope for the season is the new "expanded" schedule. This will allow the team more time for practicing and resting up before each game.

Softball's own Mr. Kent (Bullet) Richardson is considered "a great help in all the little aches and pains acquired from tedious work-outs," concluded Coach Mizoguchi.

Track Looks To State...

Track '78

"We expect this should be one of our best seasons," stated track coach Bill Ames. "We anticipate being in one of the top five spots in the league."

Besides the running events, Ames also stated the squad was very strong in javelin, high jump, and shot put, and should go to state in at least one of these events.

Clubs

Letterman's Club Activities

U-Hi Letterman's Club members — in addition to earning their position in the club by lettering in a school activity — maintain a busy club schedule. A Donkey Basketball game in December pitted Letterman against Faculty and two other fund raising projects took club members' attention at other times of the year.

A spring car wash gave Letterman some fresh air and income and the Cheerleaders - Letterman Dance was the major spring project.

Letterman's Club is not overly active, club adviser Darryl Isotalo explained, because of members involvement in other activities and sports. The club is as much an honorary as an activity group.

Titans Apply Communication

Both French Club and Forensic Team realized benefits in '78 from hard work over the past two years.

French Club has worked since 1975 to earn enough money to sponsor Amity Scholar Alain A. Dautricourt. Mr. Dautricourt is a native of France who came to the U.S. for firsthand experience teaching U.S. high school students the French language. The French Club raised the funds to sponsor Mr. Dautricourt through the Amity Institute of California by selling doughnuts to hungry U-Hi students.

The Forensic team has grown considerably in proficiency and willingness to work, according to coach Darryl Isotalo. They had six regular debates with each school in the district league. Over 60 students participated in these matches throughout the year. Students also participated in invitational matches at area colleges. The Forensic class visited the University of Idaho, Eastern Washington University, University of Oregon, Whitman College and Gonzaga. The Forensic class also competed in district tournaments at the end of the year.

The Forensic class was a member of the National Forensic League and participated in a tournament held at the end of the year to judge the best student speakers. The highest ranking students went to the final competition of the National Forensic League. Individual students went to workshops in the summer at Washington D.C., California, Utah, Idaho, Bellingham, and Gonzaga. Money is received from the Student Body, from bake sales and a raffle dance at the end of the year. Students paid their own way for the trips made in the summer.

Drill Units Fly High

"Their great! I'm really pleased with them. From last year they improved 500%," says Mr. Gary Green, coach of the flags, rifles, and majorette drill units.

Along with the band the drill units received an invitation to march during the Oakland half-time, in which they displayed their new routines and the enlarged units.

Mr. Green, Kimberly Dice, and Vicki Krogseth worked together in forming new routines and in teaching them to the girls. An important quality of a flag member was to be sharp and look good, they emphasized. The flag members had practice from 7:00 to 7:45 in the morning. Kimberly and Vicki felt "that it was a pain, but once you got there it was fun." The girls have come a long way, and we feel that they will be even better next year. We are really proud of the them," concluded Kimberly and Vicki.

"OUTSTANDING YEAR FOR BAND"

The marching band did an "outstanding job this year," says Mr. Green. New uniforms for the flags and rifles added much color to the band. Students were picked from the Crimson and Gold band to form the marching band. The Crimson band attended three concerts and two festivals a year. Gold band won superior ratings for the past several years and rated outstanding band at the Shoreline Community College invitational concert held in Seattle. The theme song that took them to Oakland where they received standing ovations by the 65,000 people was Fiddler '77.

Titans Raid Oakland

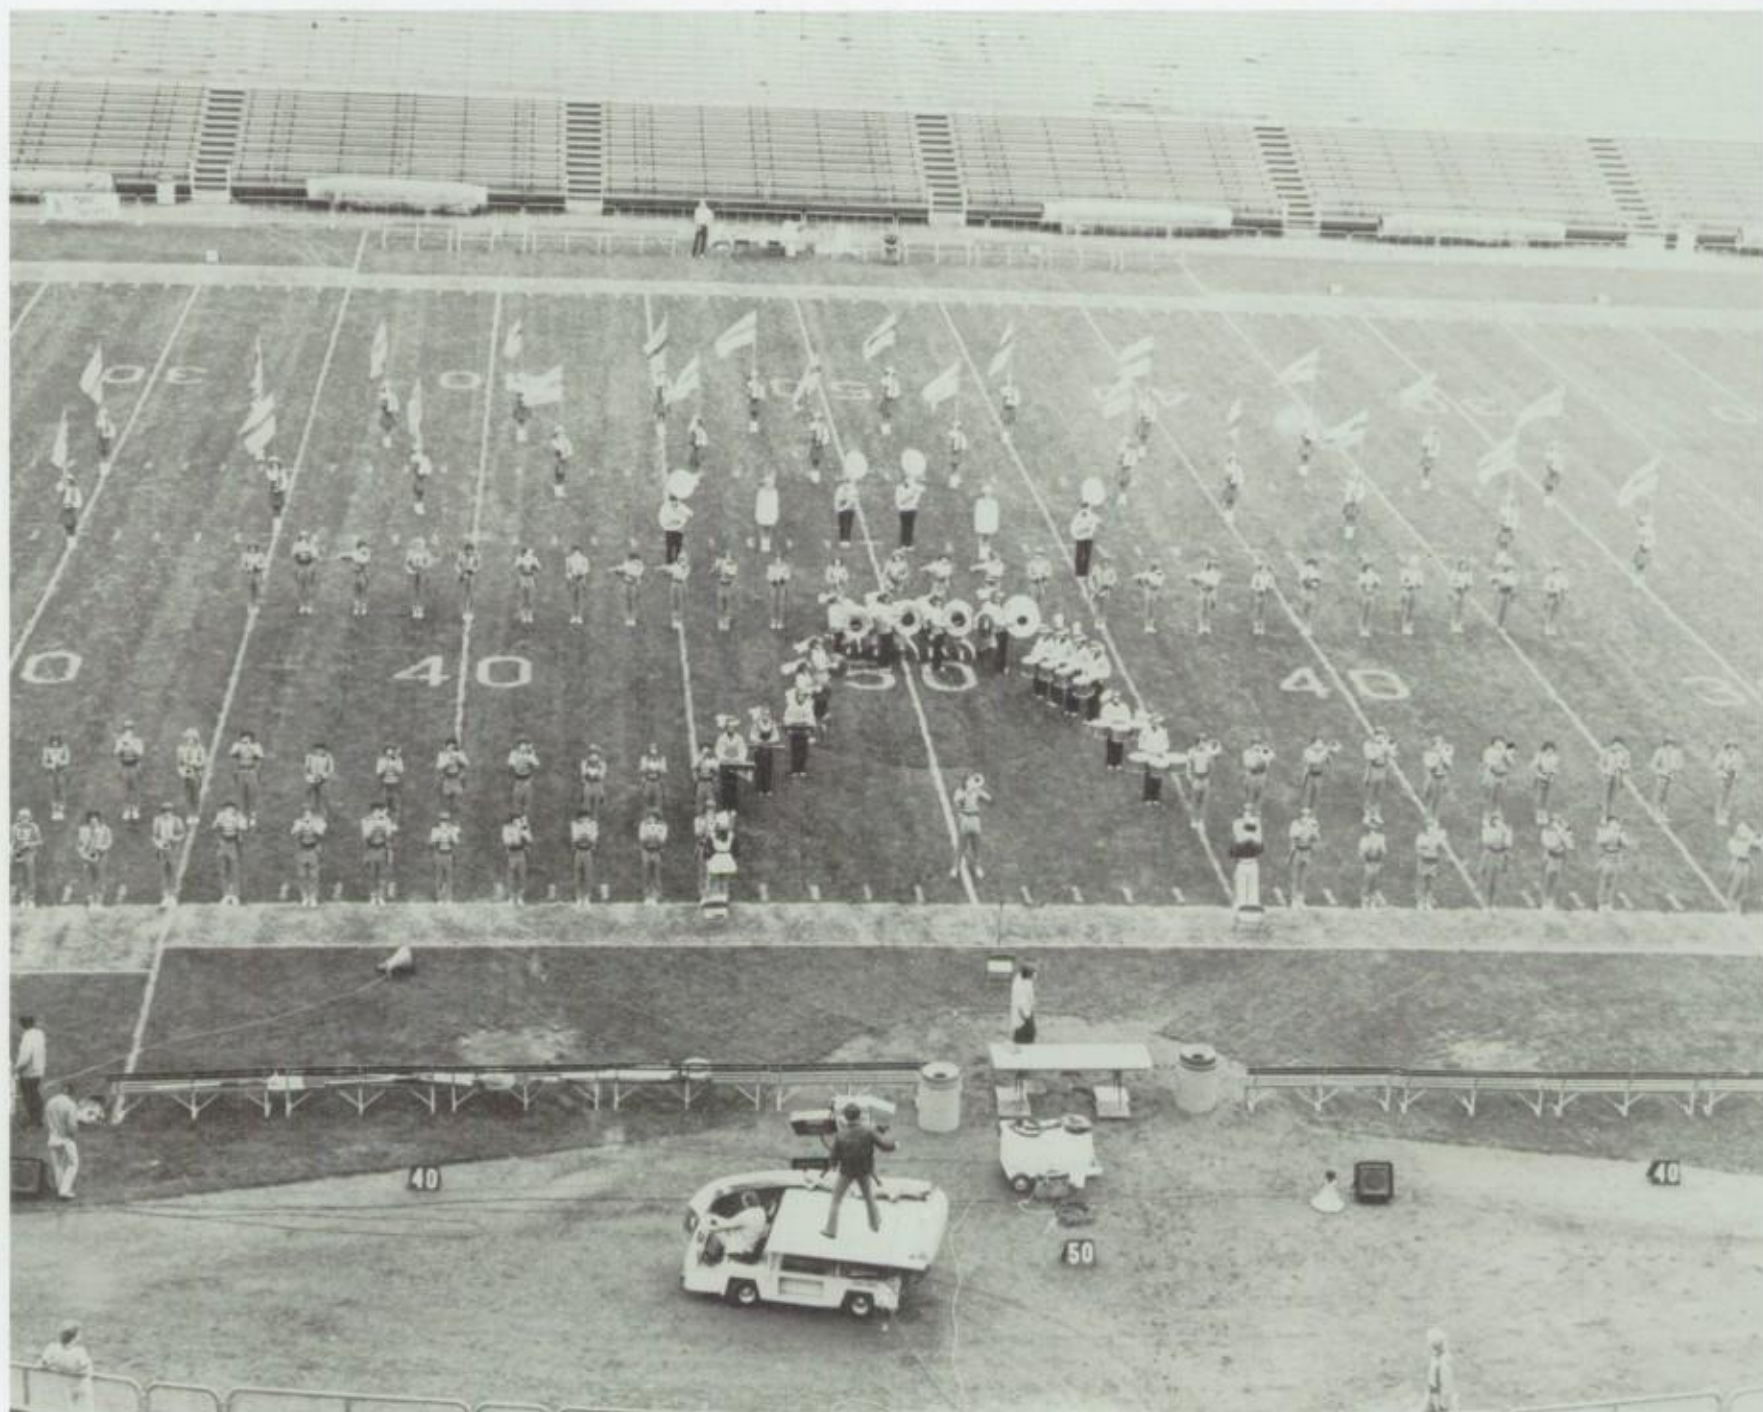

Opposite Page: Titans both 'look good' and relax during the Oakland weekend. From bending pent-up emotions at a Redding, California lunch stop to performance perfection, the final exhilaration was simple exhaustion!

In October Mr. Green, the marching band, flags and rifles hard at work were rewarded when they were invited to perform during the Oakland Raiders/Denver Broncos halftime. Arrangements were made by Mr. Gary White (a former scout for the Raiders) as Mr. Green and the band perfected their drill. The drill featured "Fiddler '77" — a medley of tunes from Fiddler on the Roof.

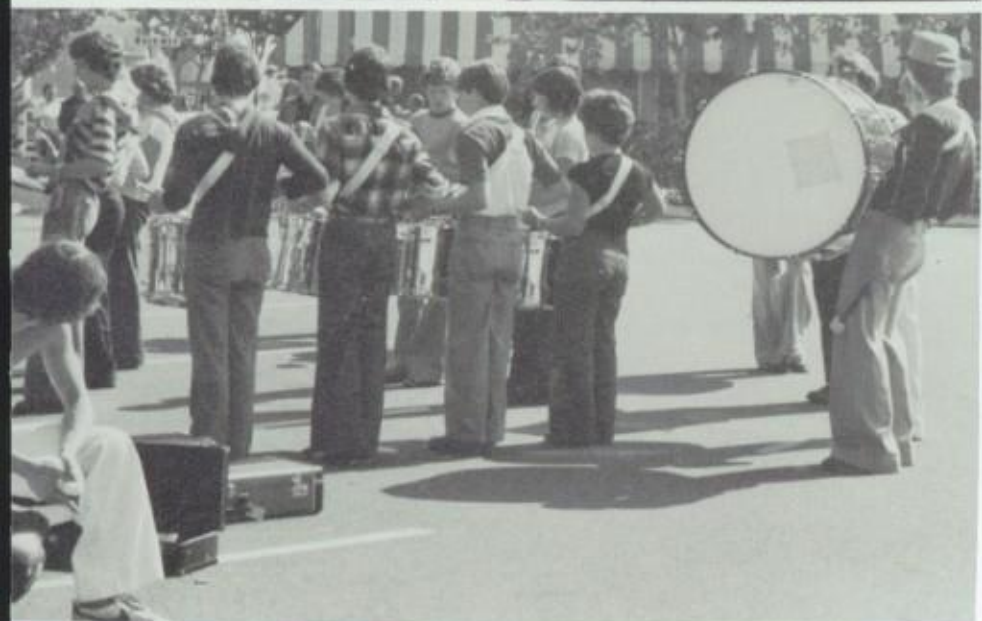

Practicing at 6:30 in the morning everyone became involved. Even those living within blocks of the school were involved as they were awakened by the patter of frozen feet and the inspiring sounds of "Sunrise, Sunset."

Practice resumed in the evenings from 6:30 to 9:30, just in time to put the neighbors to bed again with "Sunrise, Sunset."

During a two week period the band succeeded in raising $20,000 and the backing of the community for their trip. On October 13, five brand new Greyhound busses and 150 stir crazy band members rolled out of the University City parking lot for Oakland, California. When performing they never failed to receive a standing ovation with 65,000 in the Oakland Raiders stands.

Perfecting the show before the big game.

Choir Advances

U-Hi choral groups amassed an impressive performance record in 1977/78 being involved in over 30 concerts, competitions and demonstrations all under the direction of Mr. Dave Cross, who joined the U-Hi staff in September after working at Shoreline Community College.

Mr. Cross termed his new position "Great! I loved it, it was super." He feels the department saw a good turn-around with significant expansion and growth.

Perhaps the biggest honor this year was the Jazz Choirs' invitation as demonstration group for the EWMEA's annual convention. Jazz Choir also participated in the Jazz workshop at Eastern Washington University, and the Tri-Cities Jazz Festival in April.

Choir performed in six concerts and competitions giving beginning music students experience and skills to later work with Advanced and Jazz Choir.

CONFERENCE

Academics

S.E.L.F. Helps Kids

Seniors give of themselves in order to enhance their own experience, and at the same time help younger students in the Central Valley school district improve their educational skills — all through University High's unique S.E.L.F. program.

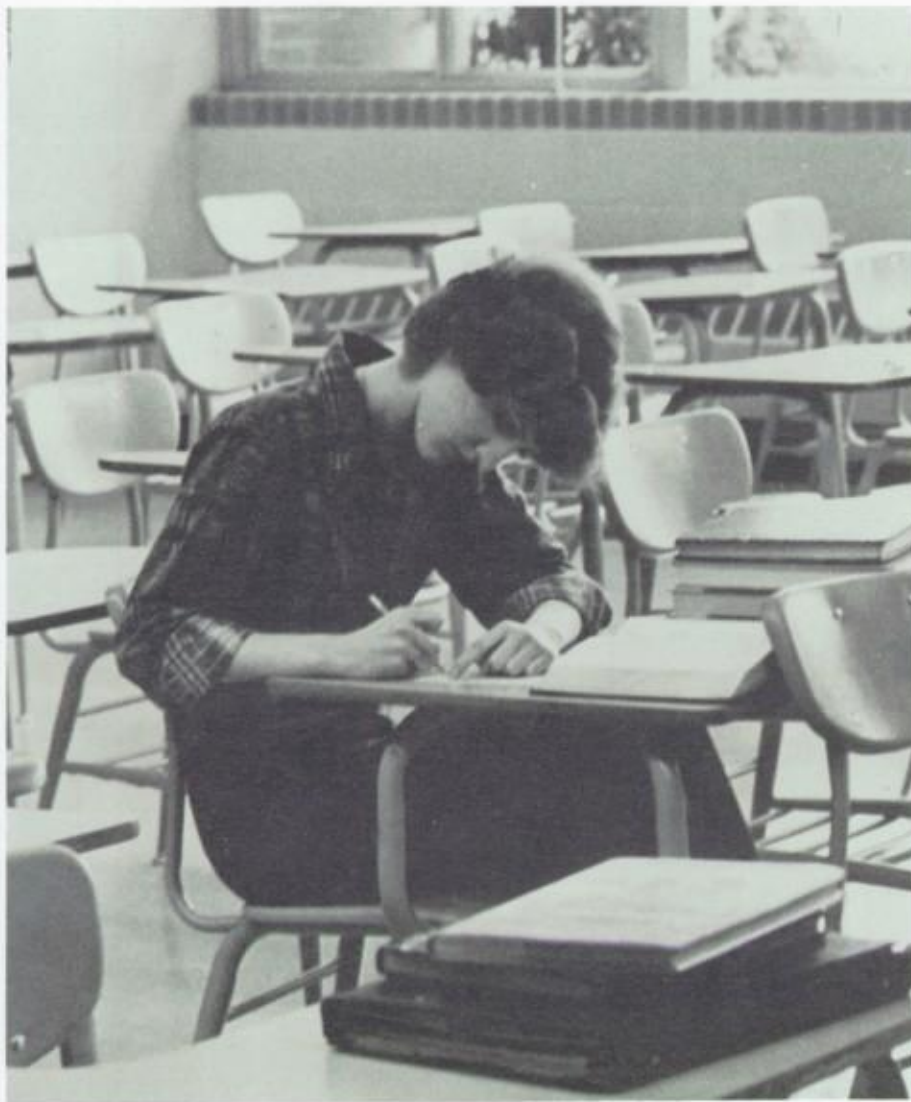

Organized in 1974, S.E.L.F. is a program which allows seniors a means of extending their skills through out-of-school experiences.

S.E.L.F. members contacted principals and teachers at elementary schools within the C.V. district to establish their volunteer program. U-Hi seniors assist at Broadway, Chester, McDonald, Opportunity, South Pines and University Elementary Schools, explained Mr. William Ames, program director.

Honor Society Taps Leaders

Honor Society is a special group of students recognized for their academic accomplishments and contributions to the school. As an honorary, the organization has no activities other than admitting new members each year.

A student is eligible for Honor Society as a sophomore with a 3.8 cumulative g.p.a.; as a junior with a 3.4 g.p.a.; or as a senior with a 3.2 g.p.a. This scholarship requirement does not guarantee acceptance. The criteria for final selection of a candidate depends on his or her eligibility in leadership, service and character. Final selection is made by the faculty, as students are not permitted to vote on candidates.

Honor Society usually meets in the spring. Its prime function is to assist students applying to college to gain honors at entrance, explained Mr. Jeff Brown, coordinator.

Scholarships Honor Others Orahood Tops Class List;

Recognizing three years of academic excellence, Lisa Orahood, Susan Moore, and Joan Kitterman were name Valedictorian and Co-Salutatorian for the Senior Class of 1978 by Principal Jim Stickney. Ten other seniors were singled out for other academic awards or honors at that time.

Valedictorian and Salutatorian titles recognize those students who have maintained the highest cumulative grade point average through their high school years. Lisa maintained a 4.0 gpa, Susan a 3.97 and Joan a 3.96.

Mr. Richard Naccarato, head counselor, listed ten seniors who had received scholarships and other regional awards as of March 10. He emphasized that not all the scholarships had been awarded and that many more were pending. He predicted "the list will be considerably longer by the final presentation ceremony on graduation day."

Practicing (?) standing at attention for their future military careers are Naval Academy appointees John Thomas and Doug Jacot.

Lang. Group Largest

Language Arts is the largest department in University and the most balanced between men, women faculty members, explained Mr. Carl Welch, Department Head. In the sophomore level, Language Arts emphasizes the paragraph and a variety of short stories and novels. The Junior level emphasizes the complete composition with American Literature courses. The senior level works on college term papers and essays with the expansion of World Literature, Shakespeare and Mythology.

Three years ago the Language Arts department changed to an elective course, dropping requirements for the Senior level. This department is especially important to the college-bound student who uses a variety of writing skills necessary to succeed in college, Mr. Welch concluded.

Superior Instructors Lead to Business

Growing interest in business courses made it necessary to add one new staff member and expand course offerings in 1978, according to Mr. Roy Dyer, Department Head. Mrs. Sheri Culver expanded the business teaching staff to six members.

Mrs. Culver commented. "This year I noted an increasing interest in business courses." She explained she felt students were becoming more aware of the opportunities in business fields. Growing interest in Business Law and Business Education courses will necessitate expansion in these areas in the future Mrs. Culver predicted.

Business Department courses include not only traditional business classes, but also Home Economics, and Graphics and photography courses — all relating to post high school job training opportunities. "The main function of our entire department is to prepare students for work skills and job opportunities," Mr. Dyer explained.

Physical Fun

With the addition of archery instruction in 1978, the P.E. Department continued its goal of stressing lifetime sports. Instruction in the underclass P.E. courses emphasize such sports as tennis golf, jogging, and cross country in addition to archery. All sports which can be continued on an individual basis after high school, according to P.E. department head Joe Trembly.

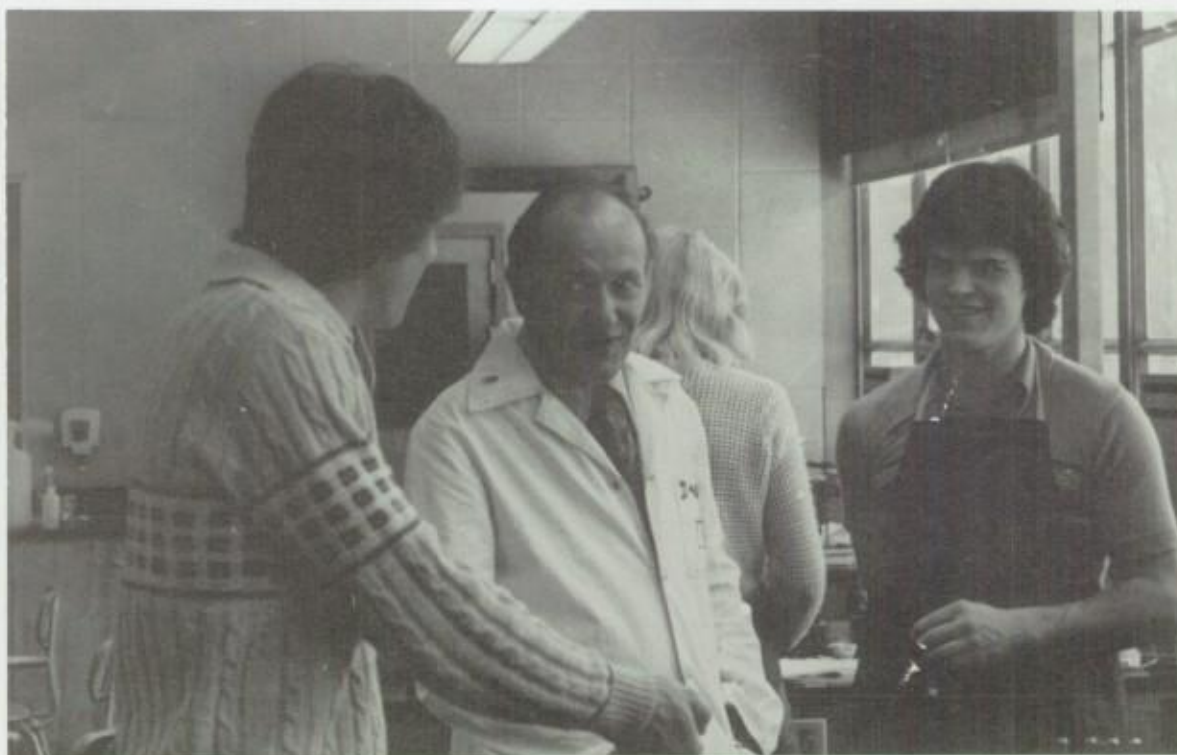

More girls are expressing interest in physical education electives and this has placed new emphasis on girls sports and intermural games.

The addition of new instructors backed with new equipment continue to allow the department to make new areas of study available to students, Mr. Trembly concluded.

Math/Science Develops Skills

U-Hi math-science classes provide a strong basic curriculum, and the department offers more advanced courses because of larger student body according to Mr. David Orahood, Dept. Head. Students taking senior math are equipped to start their college math courses with calculus. Some of the advanced courses are Chem. III, genetics, physics, and computer programming.

Social Studies offerings introduce students to important areas of life — areas which involve political, social and economic concerns. Hopefully through an examination of these areas, the student will graduate from U-Hi with an adequate base of knowledge and experience from which he or she can make critical and responsible decisions as a citizen, said John Traynor, Social Studies department head.

The social studies courses are: Amer. Economic History, Amer. Foreign Policy, Critical Issues, Cultural History, Comparative Religions, Philosophy & Revolution, Cont. International Prob., Oriental History, Rise of Isms, Comparative Economics, European History, Civics, Psychology, Sociology, and Washington History.

Ind., Fine Arts Teach Skills

Fine Art and Industrial Arts Department share a common goal of introducing students to various skills necessary for future job levels.

Growing by one staff member this year, the Fine Arts Department served a variety of student interests in Drama, Art and Music, as well as library services. Due to increased enrollment Mrs. Marilyn Hastings was added to the Fine Arts staff after school opened in September.

The Fine Arts Department is a composite of special interest courses encompassing art classes, music offerings and all drama and stagecraft. All the classes are designed to provide introductory and advanced skills in these performing areas. Students interested in library services also gained skill experience working with the library staff.

Industrial Arts also emphasizes skill building—but attempts to acquaint students with careers, jobs and skills available in American Industry, explained Mr. Chuck Pierce, department head.

Industrial Arts courses center around four basic areas of study: drafting, woodworking, metalworking and automotive.

Administration: Times of Guidance

The administration this year has received a new member which is Mr. Louis "Skip" Drew. Mr. Drew was Vice Principal in Tacoma, Washington. Along with the other administrators Mr. Jim Stickney (principal) and Mr. Mel Clayton (an assistant for Mr. Stickney) the three compose a team trying to improve University having as many fun-filled activities as possible. These activities allow the student to become more active and more enthusiastic towards U-Hi. The administrators agree they love working with the students and trying to help them with their problems, so long as the student will also try and improve. The principals are always busy, whether during the day, after school or evening, they support all of the activities that the students are in by going to all of the band and choir concerts, drama plays and guys and gals athletic games.

*Aware of our aspirations,
extending ourselves,
to touch, to reach, to explore.
We attain
personal victories.
A new horizon.*

Not only as individual students, but as groups, we strive for new horizons; find new challenges; earn new successes. So it was for the 1978 Kronos Staff as they approached their yearbook production in a whole new manner.

This year our Kronos staff altered the style of the book and attempted a 100% camera-ready program.

The only other west coast schools attempting this are at the college level. The program gave us more design freedom in preparing our own materials. In short, we had more creative options because we assumed a program normally used by only professionals.

The yearbook was advised by the graphics facility to create many of our own special effects—effects that are normally too expensive when a professional printer accomplishes them.

Collectively the staff accepted the the challenge of pasting up an exact replica of all the type and window masks for each individual page. This task is normally done by the printer. To do this we had all of our type set here in Spokane. This gave us the opportunity to use more variety than we would have had from a regular printer. We also composed some of our headlines by using hand set type.

Essentially, then, the Kronos students executed about 20% more preparation work than is routinely accomplished by a yearbook staff. We accepted a challenge. We struggled. We accomplished. Now we look forward again—each in our own way—to strive for yet another new horizon.

Finds New Production Challenge ...

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I thought it would be easy acknowledging those who contributed in the production of this book until I reflected back and realized just how many individuals supported us. With them, we strived, we solved problems, we set goals, accomplished and touched new horizons. It is to those people I say thanks...Everyone at HERFF JONES YEARBOOKS, of Pasco, Washington. Especially HELEN THOMPSON who worked closely with the staff handling technicalities, problems, and requests, and checking the consistency of our format...to DONNA COOK — who conducted a training session to familiarize our staff with graphics and paste-up and special effects...DALE QUINCY — our local Herff Jones service representative who worked directly with our adviser helping solve the late deadlines, enabling our books arrival as close to schedule as possible...PAT MOLL — in our business office who handled all the sales and budgeting for the book...the FACULTY MEMBERS that allowed our excusal during deadlines...TIM MC WILLIAMS — a local free-lance photographer for his time, advice and beautiful cover, end sheet, introduction, color section, and closing photographs...MIKE KINNE — a local typesetter extremely patient and helpful during our production schedule...1978 KRONOS STAFF — to those who put in that extra time needed to meet our deadlines and all who helped considerably in the completion of the yearbook...In every staff are those members who excel in loyalty and dedication towards the book, Kronos Staff '78 is no exception. I personally extend appreciation to SAM CATHCART — our photographer, for all the hours after school, developing, printing, and working extra hard on the division pages photographic effects...to RENA AUSTIN — for all her hard work, and overall greatness she displayed assisting the graphics team prepare window masks and paste type...and finally to TED CLARK. From our adviser-to-Kronos '78 poured an endless faucet of knowledge, determination, dedication, and enthusiasm. With respect and sincere gratitude we say thank you.
